'VIRTUAL JOURNEY THROUGH BOTANICAL WORLD' - Day 2

FAUNA OF AJC BOSE INDIAN BOTANIC GARDEN, HOWRAH

FAUNAL DIVERSITY

AJC Bose Indian Botanic Garden is a nationally declared ex-situ conservation site for rare, threatened, endemic and curious plants of the country. Maintenance of essential ecological process and life support systems is the basic requirement of a conservation site. Co-existence of diverse faunal representations with available flora is an integral part of a sound & healthy conservation site. This man-made wilderness aims to provide natural habitats of the plants introduced in the garden from different climatic zones of the country and abroad for conservation purposes. This age old garden has become a homeland for 83 species of birds including many rare and migratory species. Migratory birds visit during the winter season from across the sea and return by the commencement of summer. Insect group includes 54 species of butterflies and a variety of spiders and ants. Undisturbed habitat of the garden is an abode of variety of reptiles and amphibians. There are 15 different species of reptiles and 7 amphibians so far reported in the garden. Occurrence of venomous Russell's Viper (Daboia russelii), Spectacled Cobra (Naja naja), Monocled Cobra (Naja kaouthia), Common Krait (Bungarus caeruleus), Banded Krait (Bungarus fasciatus), etc. constitute the important components of forest like habitat of the garden. Among mammals Fishing Cat (Prionailurus viverrinus), Palm Civet (Paradoxurus hermaphroditus), Indian Flying Fox (Pteropus giganteus), Marsh Mongoose (Herpestes persicus), Indian Porcupine (Hystrix indica), Jackal (Canis aureus), etc. are worth mentioning.
